

Nutrition FUNdamentals

Program wrap-up

Week 6

Employee Guide

Congratulations! You are completing the final week of learning to eat healthy. Nutrition FUNdamentals has introduced you to portion sizes, understanding food labels, and the impact of sodium, sugars and fats on health and well-being. In this final week of the program, you'll learn more skills for making healthy food selections, whether at home or when dining out.

Smart eating plans begin with making healthy choices, such as curbing dietary fats, cooking meals from low-fat recipes and selecting healthier options from restaurant menus. Knowing the ins-and-outs of recipe makeovers and dining tips will help you remain committed to good nutrition.

Week 6 Handouts

Wise up and slim down with good food choices – Cut back on fats and protect your heart and your waistline.

Eat out, eat healthy – It can be done!

Recipe for good health – Most recipes can easily be altered by substituting healthier ingredients and varying your cooking technique.
